

CJRT Top Cited & Downloaded Papers

The following articles are the top 10 successfully resolved DOIs

(updated monthly, data from CrossRef)

SingStrong—A singing and breathing retraining intervention for respiratory and other common symptoms of long COVID: A pilot study
High-frequency oscillatory ventilation: A narrative review
Clinical and cardiovascular characteristics from subjects with COVID-19 and viral outbreaks
Basic spirometry testing and interpretation for the primary care provider
Obstructive sleep apnoea in patients with fibrotic diffuse parenchymal lung disease—characterization and treatment compliance assessment
Palliative care as an emerging role for respiratory health professionals: Findings from a cross-sectional, exploratory Canadian survey
Association of COVID-19 and other viral infections with interstitial lung diseases, pulmonary fibrosis, and pulmonary hypertension: A narrative review
Assessing physical and respiratory distress in children with bronchiolitis admitted to a community hospital emergency department: A retrospective chart review
Point-of-care ultrasound training for respiratory therapists: A scoping review
The roles, they are a changing: Respiratory Therapists as part of the multidisciplinary, community, primary health care team

The following articles have received the most citations:

(updated quarterly, data from Scopus)

Year	Article
2014	To PAPR or not to PAPR?
2013	Respiratory complications in the postanesthesia care unit: A review of pathophysiological mechanisms
2015	Race, ethnicity and lung function: A brief history
2015	Endotracheal suctioning practices of nurses and respiratory therapists: How well do they align with clinical practice guidelines?
2010	Human factors in clinical shift handover communication - Review of reliability and resilience principles applied to change of shift report
2011	Teamwork, teambuilding and leadership in respiratory and health care
2016	Evidence regarding patient compliance with incentive spirometry interventions after cardiac, thoracic and abdominal surgeries: A systematic literature review
2019	High-frequency oscillatory ventilation: A narrative review
2016	Can an interprofessional tracheostomy team improve weaning to decannulation times? A quality improvement evaluation
2009	Orientation and position of the scapula, head and kyphosis thoracic in male patients with COPD